

"The greatest threat to our planet is the belief that someone else will save it." - Robert Swan

In an endeavour to instill concern for the planet Earth and develop better stewards, the II Shift of the KG Section engaged in 'Earth Day' activities on Thursday, 21st April 2016.

Attired in magnificent costumes equipped with fitting props the young children of UKG educated their fellow schoolmates in the significance of the day highlighting the three R's - Reduce, Reuse and Recycle.

A variety of 'Best out of waste' crafts and materials were put on display to project the importance of preserving the environment and conserving resources through recycling and reusing waste in the best possible manner.

Planting a tree is a great way to celebrate Earth Day. In keeping with the days theme Earth Day 2016:Trees for the Earth students of the Upper Kindergarten gathered in the dispersal area to plant saplings. Students volunteered by potting the saplings and watering them.

The exuberant young gardeners were extremely happy as they engaged in a novel and exciting experience. Holding a sapling in hand , digging through the soil they seemed absolutely in tandem with nature. The excited chatter of children as they lived the enchanting moments is a day written in the golden memories of their kindergarten years

The delighted students were encouraged to visit their plants everyday to nurture and witness it grow. The pursuit was highly satisfying and rewarding
