

“Moral Values”

III- V GS

11th May 2016

Good Moral Values are mostly moulded from a place where love, faith and hope exist. Arsenio V Manalo Jr. Honesty, justice, modesty and simplicity are a few values of human behavior that are appreciated everywhere and will always continue to be called virtues.

These values have given strength of head and heart to individuals. But in this age of technology, these values have lost their sheen and strength. Qualities like love, emotion and service have been given up with the wind of the times and are leading us on to problems of new and varied nature making life complicated and miserable.

To refresh the essence of these values, A session on “Moral Values” was conducted by the teachers of III-V Block (GS) in the auditorium on 11th May, 2016, for the students of class V. The Power Point Presentation was prepared and presented by Mrs Sabahath, Mrs Jeeja and Mrs Jabeen Fathima.

The session included discussion about:

- 1) Dressing decently*
- 2) Conduct and behavior with people around you.*

3) How to react, if any uncomfortable situation arises.

This session gave the students a chance to participate enthusiastically making it a very interactive successful and fruitful session.

The students were made aware of the behavior and conduct and people around them.

The girls of Class V got a chance to react and speak on the sensitive topic of any “wrong touch” they have experienced.

Our values are very much on the horizon, and children must learn to cherish them.

Let us be optimistic and feel that as positive values have been shadowed, negative values will also find their way out of our lives one day- Let's wait and watch.....
